

CONCORD HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Brittany Stinson '16

- Majoring in human biology with a concentration in molecular and cellular biology (pre-med) and a minor in anthropology at Stanford University, class of 2020
- Volunteering as a health advocate researcher in the Stanford Emergency Department, where she helps determine appropriate care and referral services for low-income patients, connects them to primary and specialty services, and screens them for insurance and community health eligibility
- Investigating the role of KNSTRN mutations in squamous cell carcinoma at a dermatology research lab at the Stanford School of Medicine. Also involved in a project to evaluate the communication and compassion skills of resident physicians at Stanford Hospital.
- Awarded a $7,000 research grant to study behavioral neurobiology during the summer of 2017
- Valedictorian of the Concord class of 2016, vice president of Science National Honor Society, and member of math league, cross country team, and Governor's School for Excellence

#bsdpride #choosebsd